

SUPER WHITE DOLOMITE

Super White Dolomite has quickly become a favourite within the industry, and for good reason. This durable stone slab offers the perfect balance of light and dark elements, making it suitable for a variety of uses. While it presents a similar design aesthetic to marble, it offers a range of additional durability benefits. Super White Dolomite stone slabs and tiles are subtly beautiful and have an alluring charm about them.

Super White Dolomite is a popular choice for kitchen benchtops, island tops, stairs, bathrooms, floor, and wall tiles, thanks to its standout grey and white hues that add depth and character to any functional space. Additionally, this natural stone is known for its durability, as it is a strong and hard-wearing material that can withstand heavy use without showing signs of wear and tear.

Super White Dolomite is both versatile and timeless and compliments a range of finishes and textures, including wood and metal. When paired with wood finishes, Super White Dolomite offers a striking contrast that creates a sense of balance and harmony. The natural beauty of the stone's grey and white hues compliments the warmth and richness of wood, creating a sophisticated and elegant look.

Super White Dolomite can also be paired with a range of metal finishes. The stone's cool tones compliment the sheen of metallic finishes, creating a modern and polished look. The subtle veining of Super White Dolomite also adds visual interest to metal finishes, creating a sophisticated and elegant design.
